Transitions Webinar

Times of transition and change can be stressful and overwhelming for young people and their families.

Research shows that a positive transition experience can help towards ensuring positive outcomes.

We are holding a webinar for parents, carers and young people to provide more information on what should happen during transition from school to college, university or employment destinations.

We will be welcoming along speakers from The Scottish Transitions Forum and the Enable Works project who will talk through the supports and service they can put in place to help during the transition process.
